

Love between God (RadhaKrishna) and the Devotee

There was a girl who had come into Krishna Consciousness at the age of thirteen, she had slight physical deformity she used crutches for walking. She considered lord Krishna as her elder brother, due to her physical deformity she used to remain pessimistic but as the years passed their relationship strengthened but she used to feel very bad when people looked at her with pity in their eyes and this made her feel that Krishna not helping me even after so much efforts and then she noticed that her physical condition is slowly and gradually improving. Several times she saw reciprocation of love from lord Krishna and she always said to Krishna that I know you love me unconditionally then why don't you cure me completely? Years passed and the girl turned 18. The girl prayed to lord Krishna to give her a Guru and the association of devotees, one year later her prayer was answered and she got an amazing and extremely affectionate Siksa Guru and also the association of devotees and she learned a lot from her Siksa Guru. The girl became very happy because she got all that she desired for and her condition also showed improvement. Two years later the girl entered in her graduation year because of which she could not get frequent association of devotees and it was in one of the weekly classes in which the devotees decided to celebrate Krishna Janmashtami and the girl could not attend that particular class in which the announcement of the celebration was done one week later she received the message that the celebration is going to be held day after and unfortunately the girl had her semester exams which were on at that time so she contacted her Siksa Guru and other senior devotees and she explained her situation to all of them and literally pleaded them to postponed the date but everyone told her that nothing can be done now as all the preparations and arrangements are done everyone told her it's ok come in the Govardhan Puja celebration. The girl felt that it's unfair because she had personally seen how the Janmashtami celebrations had been postponed twice earlier on the request of other devotees and the absence of senior devotees, the girl became extremely disheartened she thought that her devotion is nothing and she being the youngest in the group of devotees has no place in the group and she literally started crying she felt that even RadhaKrishna doesn't love her she cried all night and she felt that even RadhaKrishna want the celebration of Sri Krishna's Birthday without her. Next morning she decided that this cannot happen and she decided go leaving everything behind and she again received a message that the given date of celebration is postponed to the Sunday due to some issues with the arrangements for the celebration, the girl screamed out of joy and with tears in her eyes she went to RadhaKrishna and hugged them and apologized to them for questioning RadhaKrishna's love for her. She then had Krishna Prasadam and continued to prepare for her next exam and later on she happily attended the celebration and she also cooked with love, some delicious Dessert for offering it to RadhaKrishna after the celebration.

Such is the reciprocation of Pure love between Lord Sri Sri RadhaKrishna and his devotee.
