Topic - Tapping into the Faith dimension to Accelerate Nature based actions for a Sustainable future.

By Radhanath Swami

- Our connectivity is so much imp in our life to connect us
- Our true dharma is to reconnect our spiritual love - the god which is in our heart and that to express our love to live with an compassion
- Our compassionate lives is inter related to people outside of the whole world
- On a spiritual perspective is deep understanding of this idea - bhoktaram yajya tapasyam - the entire creation and whole resources are very sacred and we are all truly have relationship with them and if we have no longer appreciation then we don't have any right to exploit them and we are care taker and this spiritual realization is to the reality.
- In the world is today we have so much exploitation and many don't have understanding of yoga to create harmony and the very living force creates harmony with god and living beings and when disharmony is there then is disease condition
- If our ecology of the human heart is contaminated then we disturb our mother earth and if our ecology of the human heart is cleansed then we respect mother earth.
- Our SP inspired the teaching GEV is simple living and high thinking and in order to inspire the corporate and govt that we need to provide exemplary life styles that models which provides alternatives and GEV provides scholars from US phds , monks combining what we do each other through water harvesting, organic farming, that this demonstrating harmony with nature and god and people and we find people coming from every parts of the world just to explore that to living responsible and practical way is possible for individual and collective way.
- We all have the time at this great time is responsibility in an exemplary way to live in harmony in peace and gratitude and respect is the foundation of the spiritual life
- And the more we find unity in people then we more we find all beauty in all in diversity

Thank you very much
Hare Krishna
